Pontoon extends boundary again

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

PONTON BEACH — A long strip of Horseshoe Lake shoreline, about 500 feet wide at its widest point, was annexed into the village at Tuesday night's board meeting.

The property, amounting to about 28 acres, starts to the east at Lake Drive and State Aid 35 and continues west, paralleling SA 35 and Illinois 162 to Granite City's eastern border.

The newly annexed tract contains about 28 acres of mainly state-owned land between Horseshoe Lake and the highway and ends where Granite City Steel's water treatment facility adjoins the lake. The latter area was annexed by Granite City in July 1986.

Extending to the water's edge of Horseshoe Lake, the annexation of state property was approved by Gov. James Thompson and the Illinois Department of Conservation.

The annexed area includes Jethrow's Quick Shop and Service Station on Illinois 162 at Moellenbrock Road, west of the Illinois 162-SA 35 junction.

"Jethrow asked to be annexed to get some police protection," Trustee Louis Whitsell said Tuesday night.

Township expected to fight ruling involving coke plant

By Bill Bagby

NAMEOKI TOWNSHIP — A court ruling Friday upholding Granite City's annexation of Granite City Steel's coke plant is expected to be challenged by township officials.

"I know good and well we're going to fight," said Trustee Joe Garcia, "and we ain't giving up either."

At the Town Board meeting Tuesday, Supervisor Harry Briggs Sr. said he is planning to meet with Township Attorney

Irv Slate Jr. and township trustees to discuss an appeal. Slate wasn't at the meeting.

On Friday, Judge Moses Harrison of the 5th Circuit Appellate Court in Mt. Vernon ruled the township was not entitled to a permanent injunction against the annexation. Nameoki's six counts contesting the annexation weren't enough to stop it, Harrison ruled.

Nameoki officials claimed the township would drastically lose its tax base due to the annexation. The annexation would also

Budget crunch looming

By Dave Gosnell
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The city will face a $2.5 million deficit next year if sizable cuts are not made, according to 1988 budget projections.

With a deficit in mind, the Granite City Council Finance Committee recommended to the City Council that each city department, in conjunction with all council committees, cut their projected expenditures.

"Before our finance committee makes recommendations, they (other committees) should meet with their respective departments to go through each department and make cuts to balance this budget," said 5th Ward Alderman Jake Varadjan, Finance Committee chairman, at a committee meeting before the council meeting on Tuesday.

Varadjan said that, if the department heads and the committees do not cut enough to balance the budget, the Finance Committee will.

Among cuts 3rd Ward Alderman Brett Hanke suggested at the committee meeting were: To drop one patrolman from the police staff, not to buy four

City fire chief to keep his smoking car for now

By Dave Gosnell
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — When Fire Chief Joe Holder drives on city streets, his car smokes — but not from its speed.

"It smokes a lot," he said. "People point and say, 'Hey, your car's on fire.'"

Holder drives a 1978 Ford LTD furnished by the city and he wants to replace it before it leaves him stranded on the way to a fire. He doesn't think the car has much driving time left.

"It has a bad engine. It's not worth repairing. It was a bad year for Fords," Holder said. He said the city bought the car new in 1978.

Holder thought he had the answer to his car problems. He planned to take the 1980 Ford station wagon used by the fire department's shift commanders would get a new Chevrolet. That is what the chief asked 6th Ward Alderman Judy Whitaker, the newly appointed fire committee chairman, to bring before the City Council on Tuesday.

Whitaker made the suggestion right after the council discussed the city's bleak budget picture. Several aldermen suggested the time was not right and she withdrew the proposal.

"Bad timing" is how Holder described it.

"I've held it off for a couple of months. It's no big thing," he said. "There is a budget crunch and I think I understand. But I need to make it to the fires."

made," Hanke said.

Mayor Von Dee Cruse said reducing essential services is "ticklish" but agreed the city will have to look at alternatives for fire protection, which accounts for the single largest

Cencom forum tonight

GRANITE CITY — Cencom Cable Television officials will hold a public forum at 7 tonight in the cafeteria at Granite City Campus, 4050 Harvey Road.

"The forum will solicit subscriber inquiries related to customer service and addressability," according to Bill Emiling, Cencom general manager, in a letter to Mayor Von Dee Cruse. The letter was received Tuesday by the mayor.

The forum is being held, Emiling said, "per request of city officials in the area."

Judge nixes change from guilty plea

EDWARDSVILLE — A Madison County judge on May 20 denied a motion by James Albert Seisser, 49, Granite City, to withdraw his guilty plea to a voluntary manslaughter charge on the death of James Buddy Clubb.

Seisser was sentenced April 16 to 14 years in prison following his guilty plea. The term imposed by Circuit Judge Paul Riley was one year less than the maximum sentence.

Seisser contended the guilty plea was the product of mental coercion and that the factual basis cited by the state during the sentencing hearing, as well as testimony during the hearing, didn't support a voluntary manslaughter conviction.

Mr. Clubb was shot in the abdomen with a .38-caliber revolver owned by his apartment at 1728 Cleveland Blvd. in an apparent dispute over money.

No one injured in park mishap

GRANITE CITY — Firefighters and rescue workers rushed to the Wilson Park Pool when a potentially deadly chlorine tank leaked during repair work Wednesday.

No swimmers were at the pool, which was closed for repairs, and there were no injuries, said pool manager Bruce Holt.

Holt said he and the assistant manager, Michele Zeleka, were removing a chlorine cylinder when the leak was noticed.

"It was a small leak and we evacuated before it could cause us any harm," Zeleka said.

"I know what chlorine can do to you," Holt said. Inhaling chlorine gas can be deadly and contact to the skin can cause burns, according to information produced by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration.

The chlorine tanks were accidentally left on during the winter months, Holt said, and when attempting to remove one, the leak was noticed.

Because the chlorination unit has not been fully operational since the 47-year-old pool opened on May 23, the tanks haven't been changed, Holt said.

"I'm having feeding chlorine right now," Holt said.

The new police and fire alarm system, much-needed in Granite City, was put into full operation this week. The system includes 15 call boxes located in selected parts of the city. When police use the call boxes, they pull a lever that stamps necessary report information after they make their telephone call.

$4 million expansion in Madison

By Donna Kimbro
Staff writer

MADISON — Issuance of $4 million in revenue bonds to expand Lanter Co. facilities at 1700 Collinsville Ave. was recently approved by aldermen.

John Bellantino, company spokesman, said the money is earmarked for construction and equipping of a warehouse which will be used in combination with Lanter's manufacturing and distributing operations.

The city entered into a memorandum of agreement with Lanter Industrial revenue bonds will be issued at no cost to the city. The move was approved May 19.

The warehouse will have 43,500 square feet and can provide employment for 20 to 25 people as warehousemen, secretaries and other office personnel. The firm expects a payroll of about $500,000, Bellantino said.

Construction of the $1.1 million Lanter Co. structure there was initiated in December 1986. It is in operation.

Lanter also operates a refrigerated distributing company at 3 Caine Drive in the city's Stephen Maers Industrial Park.

Bridge lease

Mayor John Bellcock said a Texas company is still interested in acquiring a lease for use of the closed, city-owned Chain of Rocks Bridge and about 20 acres of land at the Illinois and Missouri bridge entrances.

Investigation into police test results requested

By Jack C. Ventimiglia

GRANITE CITY — Amid charges of political gamesmanship, an investigation into alleged cheating on a police examination is sought by the mayor, two former police commissioners and the city's police union, but no one is investigating.

A hearing by the Fire and Police Commission is being considered to determine if two policemen cheated to get the highest scores ever achieved on a national police test, but Mayor Von Dee Cruse said progress is stalled because the commissioners want a lawyer from outside the city to counsel them.

"They just want to do it according to the book," Cruse said.

The assistant city attorney, John Hopkins, wants to examine test records, Cruse said. Hopkins would act as a prosecutor if a hearing is held, Cruse said, and wants to review the information. Hopkins said the commissioners

"The mayor's little political empire would benefit from this by trying to hurt the Partney faction."

Bob Barton, former police commissioner decided not to let him see the records until an independent attorney offers an opinion about releasing the information. An independent attorney will be sought, Cruse said.

An investigation cannot be fairly conducted in Granite City, charged Bob Barton, who was forced out of the commission earlier this month by the mayor.

"It's time to bring in the FBI and get a real investigation," Barton said. "All they're doing is playing politics."

Politics or not, the FBI does not get involved in a community's internal problems, said Bob Grooms, an FBI spokesman in Springfield.

"We're only authorized to investigate violations of federal law," Grooms said.

Having anyone investigate alleged cheating would help Cruse to the detriment of 4th Ward Alderman Dan Partney, Barton said. Many consider Partney to be a potential contender in the 1989 mayoral race, a possibility Partney has refused to rule out or confirm.

"The mayor's little political empire would benefit from this by trying to hurt the Partney faction," Barton said.

"I'm not out to get anybody," Cruse said. "I am out to do the best job that I can and uphold the laws of this city — that I'll do."

Partney was a police commissioner when the testing

DUI hearing today for Dave Partney

GRANITE CITY — A hearing was scheduled today in Edwardsville for School Board member Dave Partney, accused of driving under the influence of alcohol April 17.

Partney, 43, denies being drunk and alleges Granite City policemen Walter Milton Jr. and Tim Lyerla worked together to arrest him.

The results of an internal police investigation, released April 30, determined that Lyerla, who arrested Partney, didn't violate local, state or federal statutes or departmental rules or regulations in connection with the arrest.

Circus coming

The 21st annual Ainal Temple Southern Illinois Shrine circus week starts in Granite City with a parade on Monday, June 1, at 7:30 p.m.

Circus performances will be June 2, 3 and 4 starting at 7:30 p.m. at Tri-City Speedway on Illinois 203 near Interstate 270.

Tickets are $4 for adults, with two children under 12 admitted at the same price.

Tickets may be purchased from any Shriner, or at the gates prior to the performances. They are also available at any business displaying an "Ainal Circus Tickets" sign.

Tickets are also available at neighborhood Huck's Stores and all Ticketmaster locations, or by calling Dialtix at 314-421-1400.

Proceeds from this circus benefit Shrine Temple operations, not the Shriners Hospitals for Crippled Children.

The 21st yearly Southern Illinois Shrine circus returns to the Tri-City Speedway after a one-year absence.

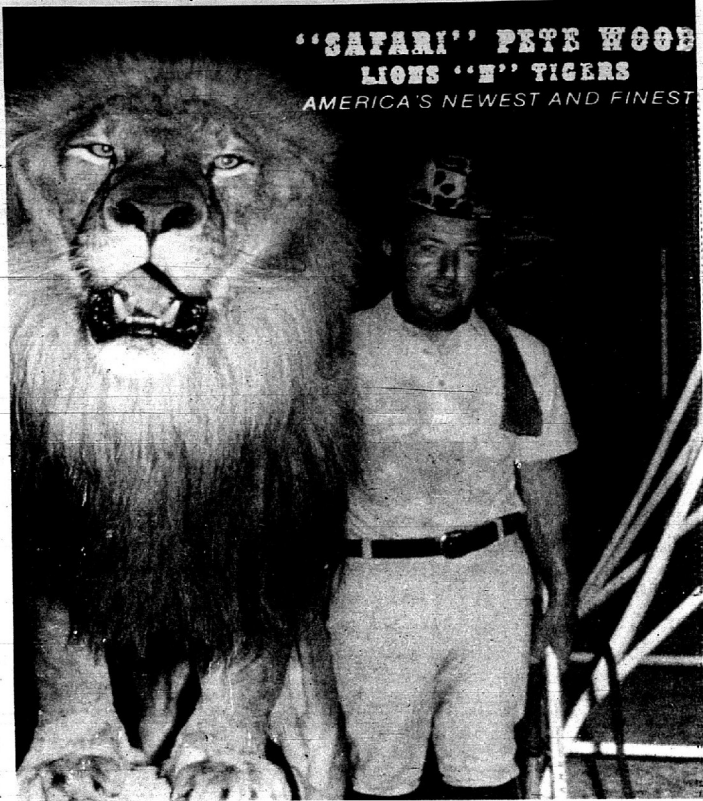

Granite City Chairman Bill Piper and Co-Chairman Curt Bosworth both agree that the return to the Speedway is a "plus factor in making the circus a success."

General Circus Chairman Irvin C. Slate Jr. said the location of the Tri-City Speedway south of I-270 makes the Granite City circus the most accessible to the surrounding communities.

Acts will include "The Rodgel Flyers," who have been featured in the major circuses of the world, featuring the double layout; two and one-half somersault; passing leap; and the renowned triple somersault.

In "Los Ramos," one member of the troupe balances a long metal tube on his forehead while his partner climbs and works his many routines at the top of the perch pole.

There will be a fast-paced presentation displaying three Bengal tigers and three male African lions.

Craft class scheduled at Mounds

Throughout the summer and fall, classes are offered in various Indian crafts at Cahokia Mounds. Students can learn first hand about Indian life by doing the crafts the traditional way. On June 27, a workshop on Arrowshaft Construction will be held from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Participants will learn about the various stages of arrowshaft construction. Stone tools will be used to shape the dogwood arrowshaft. The shaft will be completed with either a stone, bone or antler point and turkey feather fletching. Participants should bring turkey feathers, the material for the point, either bone or antler, and a sharp knife. Tuition is $10. A children's class in the art of stone tool making, called flintknapping, will be held Saturday, June 20, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. for 9- to 16-year-olds. Class tuition is $5.

Advance registration is required for all classes. These classes are part of the Native American craft program, which runs through the year and is sponsored by a grant from Pepsi-Cola Alton Bottling. For more information on workshops and classes or other programs, call the Cahokia Mounds Museum at 344-5268. The site is located off Interstate 255, 55/70, and Illinois 111, on Collinsville Road.

Red Cross sets swim class for disabled

The Tri-City Chapter of the American Red Cross will conduct an instructional swimming program for the physically handicapped June 15 through July 10.

The program teaches the physically handicapped to swim or to swim better, and to give the participants a freedom and mobility they are otherwise denied. The program enhances their physical well-being and outlook, a spokesman said.

The handicapped swim program is available free of charge to any qualifying individual in the Quad City Area. The program will be conducted at a private swimming facility in Granite City. Registration is limited and is offered on a first-come, first-serve basis.

Recruiting is also under way for individuals who wish to assist the handicapped.

"Each year, we have volunteers from all walks of high school and college students, grandparents and retirees," Joanne Higgins, program director, said.

Minimum age for volunteers is 15; there is no maximum age. In addition to the staff, qualified lifeguards, also volunteers, will be in constant attendance. Training will be held June 11-13.

Those wishing to participate in the program as volunteers or swimming students may contact the local Red Cross office at 452-7184.

AIDS prevention program for county

Counseling for AIDS prevention is being offered through three agencies in Madison County as part of the AIDS Prevention Program for Madison County, according to Tony Miller, program coordinator.

The three agencies offering this service to its clients are Family Service and Visiting Nurse Association's Family Planning Program of Alton, the Methadone Clinic, also of Alton, and Madison County Urban League's Family Planning Clinic in Venice.

Seventy clients have received risk-reduction counseling at the three sites as of April 30.

"This expansion of the AIDS Prevention Program for Madison County makes it possible for us to reach more individuals who may be at high-risk for HIV infection," said Miller.

HIV is the virus which causes AIDS, a fatal disease which destroys the body's immunity to disease.

Nine causes of AIDS have been diagnosed in Madison County.

"That's just the tip of the iceberg," said Miller. "Estimates are that in our county 100 times that number or 900 people have already been infected with the virus who may be without symptoms, but who can pass the virus onto others through sexual activity and sharing drug needles."

The AIDS Prevention Program for Madison County operates a toll-free information phone line from 9 a.m. to noon Monday through Friday.

The program funded through the Illinois Department of Public Health also offers confidential, anonymous testing for the antibodies to the HIV virus at four locations in Madison County.

For information or testing, phone 1-800-345-2383.

CRACKED HEELS
Cracked heels are a common problem, particularly in persons who enjoy going barefoot. Women who are overweight or menopausal seem to be especially prone to this difficulty. No one really knows why they occur in the last group, although it is theorized that hormonal changes contribute. In extreme cases, the cracks may become deep enough to produce bleeding. Podiatric treatment to relieve the figures may include a nighttime regimen of using a lubricant and wrapping the feet in an occlusive dressing. In many cases, improvement is noted in one or two weeks. Presented in the interest of better foot care by CLAUDE HILES, D.P.M. 1930 State St. Granite City 877-6025 or 877-6302

If it sounds too good to be true, it may be

By Dave Gosnell
Staff writer

A white-sand beach, palm trees fluttering to a gentle breeze and blue, crystal clear water lapping at your ankles in an all-expense paid vacation. Too good to be true?

It was for one Granite City man.

The man, who wished to remain nameless and whom I will call Bob, was duped in an increasingly common vacation scam.

Earlier this year, Bob attended an area home show. He signed up to win a free vacation from a regional travel company.

Four or five weeks later, he got a call from (the company) saying I won an all-expense paid vacation to the Bahamas," said Bob.

The company told Bob that all he had to do was join a travel club for $199 and the Bahamas vacation package would be free.

They asked for his credit card number. Bob gave it to them.

"That was the gimmick. They were charging to join a travel club," Bob said.

A day later, Bob and his wife decided they did not want to go to the Bahamas. He called the company and said he did not want to join the club or take a vacation. They told him it was too late. They already withdrew the $199 from his credit card account.

"They wouldn't give me my money back and I called the attorney general's office," Bob said.

The attorney general's office did get Bob's money back but not before Bob discovered the free vacation did not include airfare, which he was billed for.

"They lied so much," said Bob about the company.

Dennis Orsey, of the attorney general's consumer complaints district office in Granite City, was key to getting Bob's money back.

Vacation schemes of this sort are becoming common, Orsey said.

The attorney general's office is taking legal action against a number of travel promoters for consumer fraud, Orsey said. The company that duped Bob is being investigated, he said.

In one case, a travel company in Chicago lured people into the scam by advertising $29 round-trip flights to Hawaii, Orsey said.

Under a restraining order, that company can no longer run travel ads.

The vacation schemes work something like this, said Orsey. Consumers are solicited by telephone, mail or advertising. They are told they have won or are being offered an extremely cheap vacation to popular warm-weather spots, such as the Bahamas or Hawaii. Many times they ask for a credit card number.

The promoter withdraws money using the credit card number initially for up-front vacation expenses, such as one leg of a roundtrip flight. What the consumer is actually paying for is a membership in a travel club. No expenses for a vacation have been paid.

The unwitting consumer later finds that the promoter uses one travel agency, often out of state, which charges much more than the going airfare rates. Consumers also find reservation dates so restrictive they are unable to book convenient dates.

The consumer pays for the higher-priced vacation or loses his initial payment.

Orsey warns consumers to be wary of travel solicitations.

"When you deal with these people over the telephone, the thing they want to do is get your credit card number. You don't have the opportunity to go over the details. You should always be suspicious about people soliciting you. If it sounds too good to be true, it probably is," Orsey said.

Orsey said many companies involved in travel solicitations are fly-by-night operations. He suggested consumers deal with accredited travel agents when planning a vacation.

Attorney General Neil Hartigan has proposed legislation that would clamp down on questionable travel promoters. Under Hartigan's proposals, a travel promoter would be required to have a contract with an airline or sea carrier before the company can advertise the customer must be provided, upon payment, a detailed breakdown of services and a requirement that all payments would be refunded when transportation is canceled through no fault of the passenger.

Orsey will be speaking from 7 to 8 p.m., May 21, about travel scams and door-to-door solicitation in the cafeteria at the Granite City Campus of Belleville Area College.

Folks wanting to get away from it all may want to take a tip from Bob.

"Ignore them," said Bob of travel solicitations. "There's no free lunch."

of Commerce, City Clerk Bob Stevens, Cruse, hair operators Debbie Ryterski and Lynn Carper and House of Michael owners George and Gerry Taylor. Beauty care prizes will be given away June 1.

You can keep junk mail from darkening your box

"Good morning, Mrs. So-and-so. I'm representing the Acme Donut Shop, and have we got a deal for you?" If you've had it "up to here" with telephone solicitations and junk mail, you'll be happy to know that you can.

The Direct Marketing Association, a trade association of companies that do business by mail, sells or rents lists of names to member businesses.

You can write to the association and ask to have your name removed from its mailing and telephone lists. The association will also pass the request along to its member businesses, which should remove your name from their lists. The address is: Direct Marketing Association, 6 East 43rd St., New York, NY 10017.

The DMA keeps separate sets of lists for mail and telephone sales. So if you want your name taken off both, you'll have to say so. While the DMA has no control over the lists used by non-member businesses, you should notice a reduction in the number of solicitations you receive.

If, on the other hand, you prefer a mailbox bulging with brochures and flyers, you can ask to have your name added to the appropriate phone and mailing lists. Write to the association and request that your name be added to the lists you prefer, such as those pertaining to gardening, antiques to woodworking.

You can also file complaints against member and nonmember companies at the same address. Upon receipt of your letter, the DMA will send a letter and a copy of your complaint to the company and a postcard to you. If the problem isn't resolved within 30 days, the DMA asks you to return the postcard and it will contact the company a second time. The Direct Marketing Association says that more than 30 percent of the complaints it receives are resolved.

Spring cleaning should involve car

To prevent problems from taking hold, Automotive Information Council recommends a thorough car-cleaning each spring.

For starters, clean wheel wells using a hose with a nozzle set for a full-force stream and hose down the wheels. Use a whisk broom to brush away dirt. Spray to get rid of the dirt loosened by brushing. Spray around the moldings and trim.

Cleaning the engine is not nearly as difficult as it sounds, and the engine will look better and run cooler. Spray a solvent on the engine block, wait a few minutes and hose off.

The council recommends using clean, soft cloths when washing a car. Because sponges are virtually impossible to get clean, small particles of dirt can be trapped in them and damage the car's finish. Always use lots of water, especially if you do use a sponge on some areas, because the water will lessen scratching.

John 3:17 "For God sent his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved." Did you know that no matter how many sins you have committed, and no matter how bad they are, God does not condemn you for them? God does not see you as a sinful man or woman. He sees you as you can be and not as you are. He sees you with all your sins forgiven. He sees you pure and spotless. He sees you absolutely perfect.

Are you wondering how God can see you perfect when you can't see yourself that way? GOD SEES YOU THROUGH A VEIL. That veil is the flesh of His Son Jesus, who died on the cross for you that your sins might be forgiven.

You are already forgiven for every sin you have ever committed. All you have to do is believe what God said and accept His Son as the sacrifice for your sins. Then you WILL BE as God sees you.

Forgiveness is only a prayer away. Won't you ask Him today?

AIDS: Know facts about dreaded disease

By Richard Sassetti, M.D.
Dr. Sassetti is chairman of the Illinois State Medical Society's Ad Hoc Committee on AIDS. He is director of the blood center at Rush-Presbyterian-St. Luke's Medical Center in Chicago.

Just how big a problem is AIDS in Illinois?

The number of cases has been doubling every 10 months. Within three years, we can expect to see 3,500 cases in the state. Another 35,000 people can be expected to have AIDS-related conditions, many of whom will go on to develop AIDS.

Nationwide, the situation is even more frightening.

The U.S. Centers of Disease Control conservatively predict that 1.5 million people now carry the virus that causes this deadly disease. Others estimate the number of carriers may be as high as four million.

It is anticipated that somewhere between one-fourth and one-half of those carrying the virus ultimately will develop AIDS.

While some drugs have shown promise in slowing the rate of progression, there is no cure. Development of an effective vaccine against the virus is many years away at best.

Because AIDS has proven uniformly fatal, most people understandably have a real fear of the disease. As a result, many misconceptions surround the method by which the AIDS-causing virus is transmitted from person to person.

Exhaustive scientific studies have indicated the virus is not transmitted through casual contact. Touching an AIDS victim will not cause you to contract the disease, nor will normal interaction in the home, school or workplace. You cannot catch AIDS from a toilet seat.

The virus can be transmitted only through sexual relations, the transfusion of blood or the sharing of needles contaminated with blood. It also can be transmitted to an infant by the mother prior to birth.

While several high-risk groups have been identified as particularly susceptible to virus, it is important to remember that AIDS can no longer be considered a "gay" disease. Heterosexuals also can be at risk.

For example, sexual contact with prostitutes is a dangerous practice.

Many prostitutes are IV drug users and may have contracted the virus through shared needles or relations with other clients.

Obviously, a long-term monogamous relationship or total abstinence from sexual relations are the best means of avoiding AIDS.

But for people who wish to become or remain sexually active, the use of a condom, while not 100 percent effective, appears to offer the greatest protection against the disease.

Unless both partners know with absolute certainty that neither one is carrying the virus, use of a condom is necessary. Absolute certainty means a mutually exclusive relationship for at least five years, with neither partner using illegal intravenous drugs.

The fear of AIDS has been affecting the availability of the nation's blood supply. Those people who contracted AIDS from infected blood did so when receiving transfusions. You cannot contract AIDS from donating blood.

To address the transfusion problem, people in high-risk groups are encouraged not to donate blood. Furthermore, each and every unit of blood drawn is tested for virus.

All units of blood that test positive for the virus are discarded. Testing of all blood units for the AIDS-causing virus has dramatically lessened the chances of contracting it from a blood transfusion.

Testing positive for the AIDS-causing virus is not an automatic death sentence.

To date, experience has shown that 30 percent of those who test positive will develop AIDS. Another 20-30 percent will develop AIDS-Related Complex (ARC), a less serious form of the disease. The remainder will show signs or symptoms.

While it is not yet understood why some persons who test positive will avoid developing the disease, there are several factors which appear to increase a person's risk, such as multiple exposures or exposure to other viruses.

More general health measures may reduce a person's chances of getting AIDS; therefore, he or she should pay special attention to his or her health by getting plenty of rest, eating well, reducing stress, limiting alcohol consumption and avoiding smoking.

Persons concerned about the possibility that they may have contracted the virus should seek a blood test. A list of testing sites as well as other AIDS-related information is available from the Illinois Department of Public Health special AIDS hotline, 1-800-AID-AIDS.

Ask the dietitian

Q. Dear Dietitian: I find wanting to snack between meals. A lot of foods are available, but I need suggestions for nutritious snacks. T.B.

A. Dear T.B.: Snacking is here to stay, especially for growing youngsters, active teens, and pregnant and nursing mothers.

The hitch is choosing foods that are not simply pleasure-packed, but loaded with important nutrients as well.

1. Choose the "natural" foods. Snacks made of familiar, wholesome foods, with minimal processing, contribute needed protein, vitamins, minerals, and fiber. Avoid the fabricated, frivolous snacks (soft drinks, chips, candy, etc.) that contain calories but little else.

2. Ease up on popular fried snacks that mean added fat and calories.

3. Spare your teeth by munching on apples, for example, instead of highly sugared snacks such as candy, gum, pastries, and soft drinks.

When you reach for a snack, it's often the food characteristic that appeals to you rather than a specific food. Do you want something smooth or crunchy, hot or cold?

When you've identified the food characteristic, then the following list may help you select the snack you're after:

1. Crunchies: apples, pears, raw vegetable sticks, zucchini circles, radishes, broccoli, cauliflower.

2. Hot foods: clear soups, low-fat vegetable or tomato soup, cocoa made with nonfat milk.

3. Munchies: unsalted sunflower seeds, whole-grain breads, part-skim cheeses such as mozzarella and ricotta, plain low-fat yogurt, breadsticks, bagels, almonds and walnuts.

4. Thirst quenchers: nonfat milk or buttermilk, unsweetened juices, tomato or mixed vegetable juice.

5. Sweet foods: unsweetened canned fruit, thin slice of angel food cake, baked apple, raisins, dried fruit, fresh fruit, graham crackers.

For a calorie-free break, try:

1. A large glass of ice water; hot tea or another calorie-free beverage. Garnish with a twist of lemon or lime and sip slowly.

2. Refresh yourself by taking shower or brushing your teeth.

3. Become physically more active.

One out of ten women will develop breast cancer.

Perhaps the two most frightening words to a woman are breast cancer. The number one killer of females, breast cancer is a disease caused by an uncontrolled growth of abnormal cells in the breast tissue. But with detection, effective treatment can be started immediately, therefore improving the patient's prognosis.

The survival rate among women who find cancer before it is noticeable is 97 percent.

To answer the need for early detection of breast disease, St. Elizabeth Medical Center has established the Breast Diagnostic Program, which provides mammographies at almost one-fourth the cost of such procedures being done elsewhere. A convenient diagnostic procedure, mammograms provide patients with high quality, high sensitivity images with minimal radiation exposure.

Following the American Cancer Society's guidelines, this simple, painless exam is currently the best method of detecting breast disease. The ACS recommends all women age 35 to 40 have an initial, routine mammogram, diagnostic exams periodically between age 40 and 50; and yearly exams after age 50.

How many will detect it in time?

Scheduling for the general public will begin Monday, June 1, and will end on Friday, July 31. Normally, such a procedure would cost $95 to $100. Subsidized by the Gussie Glik Cancer Fund, this procedure is now available for a limited time for only $25, which includes the interpretation fee. A physician's referral is required.

Sugar got a bum, says FDA

According to the May issue of Good Food magazine, a controversial late-1986 report on sugar by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) states that "...except for promoting tooth decay, sugar presents no health hazard when consumed at current levels. That is, sugar doesn't cause diabetes, mood swings, hyperactivity, or a host of other health problems with which it has been traditionally linked."

The report found that tooth decay is related to sugar intake, and the experts agree. Stephen J. Moss, D.D.S., professor and chairman of pediatric dentistry at New York University, said that rapid tooth breakdown is apparent in babies who fall asleep with a nursing bottle full of sugary beverage such as formula, milk, fruit juice, or soda.

The magazine adds that "Honey and other syrupy sugars may be even more conducive to tooth decay, because they stick to the teeth."

It says, "Americans consume so much sugar — approximately 125 pounds per person per year of table sugar and other sweeteners such as honey."

In addition, the FDA report found that sugar is not a unique factor in causing obesity. "This is important," says Good Food, "since being overweight is an established risk factor in high blood pressure, heart disease, and diabetes."

Thomas A. Wadden, Ph.D., an associate of the Obesity Research Group at the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia, disagrees with several points of this finding. For example, Wadden cites the case of a patient who drank eight sugared sodas a day, he lost 20 pounds in two months by eliminating the sodas from his diet.

But there is support for the FDA's finding: The magazine points out a "...statistic showing that overweight Americans actually consume less sugar than the national average."

Most health experts, such as the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS), the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) and the U.S. Surgeon General, agree that Americans should avoid ingesting too much sugar, even if sugar is not an active cause of disease or obesity.

This is because "...sugar provides only 'empty calories' according to the magazine, and provides "...no nutrients at all — no vitamins, minerals, protein, or fiber, just calories."

It says that "the problem with taking in too many empty calories is that they often replace the calories from nutrient-rich foods our bodies need. People who take in too many calories from sugar and not enough from sources high in protein, vitamins and minerals may develop nutritional deficiencies."

Doctors, Madigan reach agreement on malpractice

SPRINGFIELD — A compromise agreement has been reached between the Illinois State Medical Society (ISMS) and House Speaker Michael Madigan's office on controversial malpractice liability legislation being pushed by the doctors group.

The final compromise plan includes:

- An agreement by the ISMS to drop the most disputed part of its proposal — a cap on non-economic damages in malpractice lawsuits at $250,000.

An agreement by the House Democratic leadership to support a reduction in the statute of limitation for lawsuits by minors. Current law allows suits up to age 22, even for lawsuits involving malpractice on infants.

The change would provide a period of up to eight years after the incident to sue, but in no case after age 22 for minors (18 and under).

The House Democratic leadership agrees to push for quick passage of changes in the Medical Practice Act under which physicians are licensed and disciplined, as endorsed by the governor and ISMS.

An amendment opposed by the doctors requiring mandatory assignment of Medicaid patients to doctors would also be tabled as part of the agreement.

A spokesman for the ISMS said the society felt it had made "significant progress" under the agreement. This session, but would try again two years from now to get legislation passed imposing limits on non-economic damage awards.

Several changes in medical malpractice law passed in 1985 were also part of a compromise in which the ISMS agreed to drop its push for "caps" for two years.

Area physicians had been among those lobbying for the additional changes, citing particularly high insurance premiums for many specialties in Madison County.

"Because of this, it is better to get sugar from unprocessed foods, such as milk and fruit, than from sweets. The sugar in fruit comes in its own nutrient-rich package and is not combined with excessive fat, as it is in cakes and cookies."

If you're concerned about the amount of sugar you ingest, here are some tips on how to moderate and cut back on sugar, taken from the pamphlet "Dietary Guidelines for Americans" from HHS and USDA.

- Use less sugar (i.e., white and brown sugars, raw sugar, honey, and syrups) and don't eat as much food that has a high sugar content.

- Check food labels for clues to sugar content. Be aware that if sugar, sucrose, glucose, maltose, dextrose, lactose, fructose or syrup is listed first on the list of ingredients, sugar is that particular food's important ingredient.

- Fresh fruit is better if it's packed in juice or water instead of heavy syrup.

Watch out for how many times you eat sugar, because it can affect your teeth just as much as the amount of sugar you eat. Watch out for between-meal snacks. Remember, the more frequently you eat sugar, the better chance you have for tooth decay.

The magazine includes the address and details to order a poster called "The Sugar Scoreboard," which provides information on the amount of sugar in 250 common foods as well as tips for moderating sugar intake.

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

Sometimes when people sustain a personal injury, the question arises as to whether they should pursue a claim against the person at fault. The answer to this question depends upon the issues of liability, damages and insurance. This article will attempt to define these terms and look at a hypothetical case involving injuries sustained in an automobile accident.

When someone talks about the liability of the defendant, the question that is being posed is who is at fault in a given accident. Illinois is a comparative negligence state, and money damages will be awarded based on the comparative fault of the parties. Damages may be defined as compensation which may be recovered by any person who has sustained an injury. Insurance companies and juries decide the amount of damages to be awarded in a given case by considering how much medical treatment was received, how much work the plaintiff missed, and the permanency of the injury, as indicated by doctors' reports. Finally, it is also important to determine whether or not the defendant had insurance in a given case. It is usually easier for an injured person to collect from an insurance company than it is to collect from an individual who is uninsured.

Let's assume that a person named Paul Plaintiff is driving his car, and he stops at a stop sign. Dan Defendant, the driver of a second vehicle, fails to stop, and he hits Paul's car from the rear. Paul goes to the emergency room for x-rays, and he is immediately released. He then receives follow-up care from his own doctor on two different occasions. In our hypothetical case, Dan has automobile insurance with full coverage.

The question that must be asked in a case such as this is whether Paul's claim is worth pursuing. With regard to liability, it certainly appears Dan is at fault in this accident. It is also important to note that Dan had insurance at the time of the accident. The real question in this case is what damages Paul is entitled to recover.

It is important to note that many personal injury claims resulting from car accidents never wind up in court. A majority of these cases settle short of an actual trial. In addition, it is also important to note that most attorneys who handle cases of this nature will handle the case on a percentage basis.

Flag raising

A SPECIAL flag raising ceremony was recently held at Frohardt Elementary School. Participating in the event are sixth grade students Danny Peterson, left, and Jeremy Reuter. After students and faculty were assembled around the flag pole, all third grade students marched out of the school building, carrying miniature flags and singing "Red, White and Blue." After the flag was raised on the pole, the entire school recited the "Pledge of Allegiance" and sang "You're a Grand Old Flag." All flags used in the event were presented by the Amvets. The miniature flags were used at the May PTA meeting, with the third graders presenting a patriotic play.

Budget

Budget crunch looms over Granite City

city expenditure at about $2 million.
"Sooner or later, we're going to have to look at the fire department," Cruse said.
"Two alternatives mentioned by Cruse were to turn the fire department into a volunteer service or to contract out fire service."
"It's not going to happen this year, but we have to lay some groundwork. I know it's not going to be a popular move," Cruse said.

Cruse defended his proposal to hire a professional engineer and additional city inspectors. The new $35,360-a-year city engineering position is included in the Engineering Department's budget request. He said hiring an engineer is overdue.

Committee members also complained that the city is not getting services expected from the street department last year to its broken sewer lines. But he said most of the 20 identified sewer breaks have not been repaired.

"Nothing has been done on these people who were brought in," Varadan said.

Varadan suggested that outside contractors do the repair work and that the city eliminate street department employees who were hired to work on the sewers.

But that suggestion was withdrawn in favor of a recommendation that Superintendent of Streets Mac Warfield bring to the council a detailed plan and timetable to repair the sewer breaks and that the street department be required to follow that plan. The recommendation was later accepted by the City Council.

Some committee members suggested the city could not force Warfield, an elected official, to follow specific line items in the street budget.

Hanke said the only way the city could require Warfield to follow the city's wishes is to pass an ordinance making it illegal for the street department to stray from budgeted line items.

No action was taken on Hanke's suggestion.

The tentative budget includes $790,000 for sewer repairs.

At the City Council meeting, Cruse said he would not support a deficit budget. The announcement brought a sharp response from 4th Ward Alderman Dan Partney, who criticized Cruse for not outlining a budget of his own.

"Mr. Mayor, you've got $3 million to start cutting. You tell us where," Partney said.

But the council, through its committees, is expected to cut department budgets. The committee will bring in their proposed cuts at next week's council meeting.

Though a 5 percent revenue increase is expected next year along with a $1.5 million surplus left from this year, a loss of federal revenue sharing funds, normal price increases, raises and numerous capital expenditure requests are blamed for the budget crunch.

Union wants check of test results occurred more than a year ago. A spokeswoman with the International Personnel Management Association of Alexandria, Va., confirmed the test was mailed to Partney's home.

The test was fairly administered and the scores were posted, Partney said. To question it now, months after the test, jeopardizes the reputations of the officers involved and ignores the history of test scores within the department, he said.

Partney provided test scores, some dating to 1969, showing officers getting grades in excess of 100 percent. On one test, when the written examination allowed a total of 55 correct, one man scored a 56 and another scored a 61. He alleged no cheating on the part of any particular individual or group, but said the scores indicate to him that "it looks funny."

"What this proves to me is that we brought back honest testing to the Granite City Police Department and now they're questioning it," Partney said. "I'm willing to let anyone look at our testing procedures. It's all been done by the book, which is more than I can say was done in the past."

Former Mayor Paul Schuler said Wednesday night he knows of no cheating on tests alleged during his 12 years as mayor, from 1973 to 1983. Elmer Miller, a commissioner during the period, said no allegation of cheating were made.

"We were never challenged and we had a good relationship with the police department," Miller said.

If an investigation is conducted, it should be done by an agency outside the city and it should be broader than the test scores of two men, Partney said.

"I do not want an internal investigation because I've seen how their internal investigations have been handled," said the former police commissioner.

The issue was investigated by Hopkins months ago and nothing came of it, Partney said. Hopkins said the investigation isn't complete.

"This matter has been under various stages of investigation all the way back," Hopkins said Wednesday. "It's been on-going."

"I'm the one who conducted the investigation to begin with and they're still where I left it," Barton said.

No one is being accused of anything and no one will be accused without sufficient evidence, Hopkins said, but added a conclusion cannot yet be drawn.

"If I didn't believe we were justified in doing this, we wouldn't be pursuing it," Hopkins said.

Thirty members of the police union, Local 1347, recently voted at a special meeting to support an investigation. Union President Jeff Parker said Tuesday the advisory vote did not recommend which agency should investigate.

"We're just saying we'd welcome an investigation," Parker said.

Partney said if the union was so concerned members should have said so more than a year ago when the test scores were posted within the department.

Teens attend youth event

The fourth Project Avalanche/Advanced Operation Snowball Weekend was held this spring at Camp Sallateeska in Pinckneyville, Ill.

Participating in the substance abuse prevention weekend program were 140 students, youth staff and adult staff members.

Eleven Quad City Area students participated in the event. They were: Yolanda McCoy, Wendy Farris, Linda Hoffman, Melissa Vincent, Larry Frazier, Jodi Williams, Eric Milles, Edith Trebing, Amy Robertson, Erika Rockett and Julia Calvin.

Project Avalanche is an advanced educational and peer leadership training program. It is founded on the belief that every person has the capacity to make sound decisions regarding life based on accurate information and an understanding of one's self and motivations.

The purpose of Project Avalanche is to bring together adolescents and professionals from Madison, St. Clair, Monroe, Washington, Clinton, Macoupin and Randolph counties to explore issues and share information about substance abuse and related life problems.

Organizations, schools and individuals provided scholarships of $70 per participant.

Project Avalanche developed out of the Illinois Teenage Institute on Substance Abuse and Operation Snowball, region four. These prevention programs share the common purpose of providing young people with the education and skills to choose not to use alcohol and drugs, and to be positive peer influences in their respective communities.

Operation Snowball originated locally in 1980 with the assistance of a seed grant.

The next Operation Snowball weekend is slated for October. Teenagers who are interested in attending or any organization interested in sponsoring a teen may call Mary Gompers or Terri Tyler at 345-5200, or may write to Project Avalanche/Operation Snowball, Piasa Health Care, 1315 Vandallia, Collinsville 62224.

company to lease the property for $175,000, making an initial payment of $100,000 with the remainder to be paid over a 19-year span.

"If this proposition is finalized to the satisfaction of the council members, I hope to put the remaining 100 acres near the bridge out for bid so the city can realize additional funds from the sale of the real property," the mayor said.

Dunbar accepted

An ordinance accepting the former Dunbar School from Madison School District 12 was approved by all aldermen with the exception of John Hamm III, who abstained from the vote because he is the Board of Education president.

The city of Venice is to adopt a similar document, since the campus is located in both cities. The Concerned Citizens group hopes to raise enough money to acquire the former school and create apartments for senior citizens.

Other business

The city received a bill for $60,093 for its portion of the cost of installing Madison Avenue street lights at Third, Sixth and 12th streets. Payment can be made over a 52-month period, Belcoff said.

A check for $2,748 from Willard Portell, circuit clerk, for fines collected in April on Madison cases was accepted.

The aldermen agreed to allow Amvets Post 204 to use the west corner of property adjacent to its parking lot, now an unused alley, for a recreation area. All costs incurred will be the responsibility of the Amvets, the mayor said.

Alderman Ron Grzywacz addressed the council with a request from a resident living near the 12th Street ball diamond. He said the man is having problems with ball players from the diamond.

During games, balls sometimes land in his yard and the players trample on the lawn and flowers while retrieving the balls. In response to the problem, Belcoff appointed a recreation aldermanic committee, naming Hamm as chairman and Richard Asperger, Grzywacz and Jim Hillmer as members.

Council approval was given to St. Mary's Catholic Church to hold its 57th annual picnic on June 19, 20 and 21 and to have streets blocked off near the church grounds.

Township

change township boundaries, making it a "small island."

Township officials can appeal the appellate court's ruling to the Illinois Supreme Court, have the appellate court hear the case again with additional counts, or seek a re-trial in Madison County.

"He (Harrison) left the door open to us where we can file another suit," Briggs said. "I don't think we're beat yet."

Trustee Norm Hall offered a suggestion to Granite City officials. "Don't write any checks on this account."

If Nameoki's efforts to stop the annexation fail, Briggs said, the township could annually lose $100,000 in taxes.

Briggs said he respected Harrison's decision.

"Legally, I guess they did the right thing," he said.

Trivia

In 1940, residents of Nameoki and Granite City voted in separate elections on the issue of whether to merge. The plan was approved by Granite City by a vote margin of 87. But Nameoki residents defeated the proposal by a 3-1 margin. Nine years later, Nameoki residents found the merger irrisistible and approved it.

Fork lift crushes truck driver, 44

Quentin L. Brentz, 44, of Sweetwater, Texas, was killed when he was crushed by a fork lift truck Friday at C & H Transport Co., 412 W. Chain of Rocks Road, Mitchell.

He was pronounced dead at 11:45 a.m. at the scene by Loren Davis, Madison County deputy coroner.

Mr. Brentz, an over-the-road truck driver, was caught in a tarpaulin being moved by a fork lift that was backing up. His body was found under front wheels of the 40,000-pound lift.

The operator of the fork lift, Charles W. Beatty of Florissant, said Mr. Brentz put the tarpaulin on the lift so it could be lifted to cover equipment in Mr. Brentz's truck. The truck driver stood off to one side and waved for Beatty to move the lift into place.

Beatty said he swung the rear of the fork lift around and noticed the tarpaulin being tugged on by the right front wheels, but could not see Mr. Brentz. When he stopped the lift to find out what had happened, he saw the driver pinned by the wheels.

Mr. Brentz was found with his legs entangled in the tarpaulin and one of its ropes.

He is survived by his wife, Judith, and five children.

Funeral services were to be conducted at McCoy Funeral Home in Sweetwater, with burial at the Garden of Memory Cemetery.

Kathryn Ross
Master Sgt. Kathryn J. (Turner) Ross, daughter of Mrs. Carol Turner, 3205 Maryville Road, has been selected the "Outstanding Reserve Legal Services Airman of the Year" for 1986. She was presented the award May 1 by Maj. Gen. DeMent at a conference in Atlanta.

"Master/Sgt. Ross distinguished herself as an outstanding Legal Services Airman while assigned as the Non-Commissioned Officer in Charge (NCOIC) of the Legal Office at the 4405 Rescue and Weather Reconnaissance Wing at Keesler Air Force Base, near Biloxi, Miss., from Jan. 1, 1986 to Dec. 31, 1986," the citation accompanying the award stated.

"During the period, Master/Sgt. Ross displayed outstanding ability and professional skill managed a numbered Air Force law center during her annual tour in August, 1986, resulting in a significant increase in the efficiency of military justice actions for the command," the citation continued.

"Her innovative training program contributed significantly to distinguished performance by 403 RWRW paralegals during annual tours with active duty, wing and numbered Air Force law centers."

"The distinctive achievements of Master/Sgt. Ross reflect credit upon herself and the United States Air Force Reserve."

Mark Goldman

Mark A. Goldman recently enlisted in the United States Navy for guaranteed training at the Navy's Gas Turbine Systems Technician School.

The son of Darlene Goldman of Hilliard, Ohio, Mark enlisted under the Delayed Entry Program through Chief Petty Officer Ron Bates of the Granite City Recruiting Station.

Goldman reported to Great Lakes Naval Training Center in April, where he is presently taking basic training. Upon completion, he will begin 57 weeks of schooling in the gas turbine system technician's field, also at Great Lakes.

At the advance training school, Goldman will be instructed in the operation, repair and maintenance of gas turbine engines' main propulsion machinery, including gears, shafting and controllable pitch propellers. He also will learn the rudiments of auxiliary equipment, electrical and electronic circuitry, propulsion control systems and alarm warning circuitry.

Gas turbine systems technicians also perform administrative tasks related to the propulsion system operation and maintenance. After finishing the 47-week schooling, Goldman may also go on to additional training, or be assigned to any one of the Navy's duty stations around the world, Bates said.

Alphonso Williams

Marine Pfc. Alphonso Williams, son of Wilma J. Cannon and stepson of George Cannon, 1106 Market St., Madison, has been promoted to his present rank while serving at the Marine Corps Air Ground Combat Center, Twentynine Palms, Calif.

The marine recently completed recruit training at Marine Corps Recruit Depot at San Diego, where he was taught the basics of battlefield survival in the 11-week training cycle.

He was introduced to the typical daily routine that he will experience during his enlistment and participated in an active physical conditioning program.

The marine also gained proficiency in a variety of military skills, including rifle marksmanship, first aid, and close order drill. Teamwork and self-discipline were emphasized through the training cycle.

Williams is a 1982 graduate of Madison High School and a 1984 graduate of Bailey Technical School, St. Louis, where he earned an associate degree. He joined the Marine Corps in September 1986.

Barry Perdue

Navy Seaman Recruit Barry F. Perdue, son of Marjorie Perdue, 2208 Cleveland Blvd., has completed recruit training at the Recruit Training Command at Orlando, Fla.

Perdue's studies during the eight-week training cycle included general military subjects designed to prepare him for further academic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's 85 basic fields.

Seamanship, close order drill, Naval history and first aid were among the subjects taught. He also achieved three hours of college credits in the field of physical education and hygiene.

Terry Barton

Army Sgt. 1st Class Terry L. Barton, formerly of 40 Moorland Drive, has been awarded the fifth award of the Good Conduct Medal in the United States Army.

He is the son of Golden C. Barton of Granite City and the late Doris J. Barton.

The sergeant is a 1972 graduate of Granite City High School. Currently, he is assigned as an inspector general with VII Corps at Stuttgart in West Germany.

Matthew Rowden

Matthew Rowden of Granite City has qualified for the Army College Fund with his three-year enlistment in the U.S. Army.

According to Staff Sgt. Mark McMurray, recruiter at the U.S. Army Recruiting Station, 3675 Namecki Road, Matthew's enlistment will allow him to accumulate up to $22,800 in the Army College Fund, which will help him pay for his education after completion of service.

Matthew also has received written guarantee from the Army that he will be training as a combat signaler, the job specialty of his choice.

He is a graduate of Granite City High School and will report for duty June 16, taking basic training at Fort Jackson, S. C., and advanced individual training at Fort Gordon, Ga.

Young persons who can meet the Army's physical and aptitude standards may call McMurray at 876-5990 to learn more about Army opportunities.

Begin city budget busting with cut in council's trips

The city is starting this year's budget session with lots of red ink — $2.5 million.

Department heads want more money to operate their departments and expand services. They'll be cut, and those older men doing the cutting will put themselves on the back for doing the painstaking job.

Each alderman will have his own ideas for making cuts. Among those suggested for review by 3rd Ward Alderman Brett Hanke is to reduce the amount set aside for the police and fire departments' pensions plans because the amount is greater than necessary; chopping the amount that the library receives in excess of what the city is required to pay; omit the purchase of a fire truck and several police cars; and by attrition, a policeman and fireman could possibly be dropped, saving around $80,000 in benefits and salaries.

At this stage, Hanke's suggested items for review are no better or worse than others considered. All ideas should be put on the table, reviewed, and accepted or dropped as common sense and the public's welfare dictate. But two suggestions made by Hanke — even at this early stage of the game — deserve public and council support.

Hanke suggests deleting the $9,500 set aside for aldermen and other city officials to attend the Illinois Municipal League meeting. He also favors slashing the $400 per city official used in 1986 for the Illinois Township Association annual meeting. In the midst of severe sewer problems, and the loss of revenue sharing funds, a junket for city officials stands out as being an extravagant waste of public money.

As an added insult to taxpayers footing the bill to — wink, wink — "educate" aldermen, the aldermen kept any money that wasn't spent. They did not have to account for the spending; no receipts needed, thank you. And after that trip, there was nothing mentioned of anything learned from the expensive "learning experience."

Though Hanke's intent is laudable, an amendment is in order. There's little value in spending thousands of dollars to send a dozen or more persons to a meeting when three or four could learn what's to be learned and report back to the others. But the three or four persons should be sent. Aside from the entertainment, food and drink, there is knowledge to be gained at the township and IML meetings and the city should not cut itself off from these resources. This position is supported by, among others, Woody Moad, retired 6th Ward alderman, who attended both meetings during his terms.

The city's chopping to be done at the budget block, but aldermen should get their own house in order before hefting the budget ax elsewhere.

Ambassadors are growing

Granite City Ambassadors are becoming involved in an increasing number of positive activities, and their ranks are growing rapidly.

The non-political group, still in its infancy, is dedicated to helping make its community "the best possible city it can be." Emphasizing a desirable environment in which to work, live, shop and play, the Ambassadors are expanding the already diverse local attractions with a number of additional events and programs.

Examples include the annual mayoral ball, a black-tie dinner-dance. The first such gathering saluted U.S. Sen. Paul Simon, now a presidential candidate, and the second one, this weekend, will honor U.S. Rep. Melvin Price, now in the last of his 22 consecutive two-year terms as the local member of Congress.

The Ambassadors also are sponsoring Granitfest '87, among whose many-faceted elements will be an open house from 1 to 4 p.m. Saturday at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. Granitfest highlights also will include a downtown arts and crafts fair Friday. Events related to Granitfest have covered a span of two and a half weeks.

The Ambassadors participate in Christmas season efforts that provide added holiday cheer for needy youngsters, and are adding still other projects to their list.

The organization has no "axes to grind" and hopes to stay out of controversy while doing what it can to enhance the quality of life — and to have a bit of fun in the process.

With a platform like that, there is a sound basis for everyone to enlist in its undertakings.

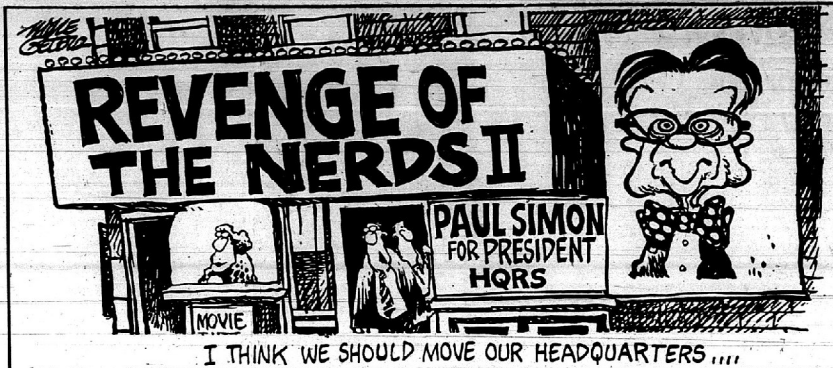

Keep limit on eavesdrops

Illinois senators were right in defeating on May 21 a bill to expand governmental eavesdropping power.

On the surface, it may have seemed like a good way to aid police in fighting drug crimes, kidnapping, hostage-taking and terrorism. A chief circuit judge would have been empowered to allow wiretaps without the consent of participants. Present law requires the consent of one of the parties.

Authorities would have been permitted to listen in on legally-privileged conversations, including those between husband and wife, lawyer and client, or doctor and patient.

Eavesdropping techniques have become so sophisticated that few assurances of personal privacy remain. But to legally sanction a no-holds-barred approach would be a serious mistake, even for worthy motives, since the potential for abuse would be great.

Fight 40 percent income tax rise

To the editor:
I am writing to urge Illinois reporters to continue to be as accurate in reporting the governor's office's newest tax hike offering as most were when the governor originally proposed hiking the state income tax 20 percent.

The governor's office now favors a 40 percent increase in the individual and corporate income tax.

I'm hoping that no one will incorrectly describe this as a "one percent" increase in individual income taxes, as one radio announcer put it.

The increase would be a one percent-point increase in the individual tax rate, 2 1/2 to 3 1/2, but a 40 percent hike in what people would be asked to pay.

An accurate description of this 40 percent tax hike proposal makes it sound as bad as it is and confirms a suspicion we've had all along — that the least organized taxpayers, individuals, could end up carrying the burden of big spending increases.

You can show your opposition by putting a bumper sticker on your car or a 4x6-foot yard sign made of paper saying, "No More Illinois Taxes," and writing your legislators.

People can obtain a sticker or sign by writing to me in care of the State Capitol in Springfield. The bumper stickers cost 25 cents each and the signs are $7.50.

The time to act is now, before it is too late.

Sees a bright future in this area, at Depot

To the editor:
"Even one's yesterdays could not continue to stir and move in a man's mind unless there were a future for those yesterdays to make." — Mary Ellen Chase.

On the eve of my departure I would like to express my sincere appreciation to all the personnel of Granite City, Madison and Venice who have helped me the past 25 months.

Commanding the St. Louis Area Support Center (SLASC), formerly the Army Depot, has been the high point of my military career.

It has only been through your support that many of the programs the Army is planning will take place. A bridge has been laid that must never again be broken.

The installation is a vital part of each of these fine communities and, as they grow, so does the depot.

During the next few years, the past hopes to complete the badly needed housing, construct a U.S. Army Reserve Center and build a new chapel/child care complex. All of these buildings will provide construction work to local contractors and, hopefully, many permanent jobs.

I would personally like to thank Mayor or Cruse of Granite City. His sage advice and assistance during these past months have personally helped me and, most important, SLASC.

We can only be successful if the Army has the local community political support, which we definitely now have.

My family and I are going to Germany on May 24 where we will be assigned to Worms Military Community.

Always know that this wonderful area is in our thoughts and prayers.

Thank you, and God bless!

ROBERT A. FORTIN
Lt. Colonel

Government wrath right

You have heard much righteous wrath about our government sending weapons to Iran and to the Contras.

How dare our government use our tax dollars for such purposes.

You ain't heard nuthin' yet! Russia is looking to spread communism around the world by pumping billions of dollars into Cuba, Angola, Afghanistan and Nicaragua.

Where do you suppose the struggling Soviet Union is getting all that money? From us.

Moscow borrows money from banks — including United States banks. Many such loans to the U.S.S.R. and to other East Bloc nations are entirely unrestricted and can be used for whatever purpose they choose, no strings.

The Soviet bloc already owes about $100 billion to Western banks. By 1990 — three more years — the Russian debt alone will be $55 billion; an increase of 90 percent in five years.

And United States banks are pushing additional Russian loans and bargains in terms, terms far more favorable than those offered Latin American nations.

Why do our banks favor loans to Soviet bloc nations in preference to loans to our own neighbor nations?

Austin Kiplinger says that bankers figure loans to a dictatorship are "safer" than loans to a democracy.

When payback begins to hurt, the people in a dictatorship cannot rise up and force default.

The result is obvious: Yankee dollars support Soviet expansion.

And our hypocrisy is so conspicuous.

We make much to-do in our Congress about voting economic sanctions against South Africa in the name of "civil rights" — yet we persist in policies which favor the U.S.S.R., which recognizes nobody's civil rights.

Gorbachev, with a smile and an announced policy which translates into our language like "moderation" and "cooperation," has a lot of Americans willing to ignore what he does and gamble on what he says.

Lenin, when he was first trying to consolidate Bolshevism, adopted a foreign policy he called "peredysyska." Literally it means "breathing space."

Gorbachev is buying breathing space — and with our money.

Is AIDS policy good for all?

The state policy concerning students with AIDS allows children to continue their education in their regular classroom, with only the school staff knowing the identity of the child. What do you think about this policy? Should AIDS victims be segregated? Should the identity of students with AIDS be made available to parents of other children in the school?

Debra Lieneke, Granite City
"I don't know if they should be allowed to go with the other students, but they should be allowed their education. It's best to keep it anonymous in school or there would be a lot of problems."

C. Hinderlitter, Granite City
"I don't think a child should be denied the right to go to school and they should not be segregated. Reports say AIDS can't be contracted through casual contact."

James Harris, Granite City
"I think if they know a person has AIDS, they should be segregated from the other students. They shouldn't expose the other students."

Services to children win House approval

A series of measures designed to overhaul efforts to expand early childhood development programs, crack down on child abuse, and improved child care services was approved May 21 by the Illinois House.

The legislation was developed in response to Illinois House Speaker Michael J. Madigan's request to focus special attention on children's services during this session.

"When this session began, I called on my colleagues to give special attention to the human fabric of our state rather than the brick and mortar issues. Our children's initiative represents a major step forward in this effort," Madigan said.

The legislation package includes:

- New programs for prenatal and newborn care services;
- Expansion of the nationally recognized "Beethoven Project" to additional Illinois cities;

- Establishment of a Peer Power pilot program;
- Scholarship programs to encourage college students to obtain degrees in early-childhood development;
- Development of training programs, through Project Chance, to help welfare recipients obtain positions in the child care field;
- A comprehensive revision of state services for child abuse prevention, reporting and assistance.

"This package will make Illinois a leader in developing healthy children and child abuse prevention, showing other states we recognize government has a responsibility to its youngest citizens," Madigan said.

Madigan cited the efforts of Reps. Lee Freelon, D-Chicago, Michael Curran, D-Springfield, and Barbara Flynn Currie, D-Chicago, for developing the measures.

State news

500 additional names on tax supporters' list

Gov. James R. Thompson said there is growing support for a tax increase of some kind this year, based on more than 500 additional groups and individuals who have demonstrated their support for increased revenues for state programs.

Among the new supporters named were the vice president of advocacy, League of Women Voters, Eleanor Reville; Deborah Miller of the Illinois Library Association; George Dempsey, advocacy director, Paralyzed Veterans of America; and Greg Sparrow, mayor of DeKalb, representing the Illinois Municipal League.

Reville said income tax increases are "the fairest and most productive way" to raise revenues for education, public aid, mental health and local government services.

New cancer treatment gets state financing

A new cancer treatment that heats solid tumors with a beam of sound is being financed with a $250,000 loan from the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs and a $100,000 Business Innovation Fund loan.

The system is not a cure for cancer, but it can apparently be valuable when used with more traditional treatments, such as radiation and chemotherapy. The system is being tested at Christ Hospital in Oak Lawn, as well as Duke University Medical Center, Indiana University School of Medicine and the New England Medical Center in Boston.

April balance edges toward warning zone

The state ended April with $197 million in the General Funds, $11 million more than in March and the closest the balance was come to the $200 million warning zone in nine months, Comptroller Roland W. Burris said.

Revenues for the first 10 months of the fiscal year were $9 billion, $382 million more than comparable revenues at this time last year. Expenditures were $8.1 billion, $249 million more than last year. Burris said the state spent more from General Funds than it has been able to raise in revenues thus far this year.

Energy department backs clean coal bill

The director of the Illinois Department of Energy and Natural Resources has sent testimony to a U.S. Senate committee calling for passage of a bill that would create a federal clean-coal technology program.

The bill would establish a $3.5-billion, 10-year program to help industries demonstrate and implement clean coal technologies. Although present coal technologies have reduced sulfur dioxide emissions from industries, new technologies are expected to reduce nitrogen oxide emissions as well.

Guide gives hundreds of facts about Illinois

Hundreds of facts about Illinois can be found in "The Natural Resources of Illinois: Introduction and Guide," a new publication from the Illinois Natural History Survey.

The book tells the story of the state's resources through text, maps, tables and photographs. To obtain the guide, a $10 check or money order may be sent to the Illinois Natural History Survey, Room 172, 907 E. Peabody Drive, Champaign.

Thunderbirds at Scott AFB Sunday

SCOTT AFB — The U.S. Air Force's official air demonstration squadron — the Thunderbirds — along with more than 40 military and civilian display aircraft will be featured Sunday, May 31, at the annual Air Show here.

This year's show is expected to draw between 100,000 and 200,000 people, depending on the weather. Lt. Col. Jack Rochelle, 1987 Air Show director, said this week.

Gates at Scott Air Force Base will open at 9 a.m. and close at 5 p.m. Sunday, with the Thunderbirds arriving at 11 a.m. for a 10-minute familiarization demonstration and performing their show at 4 p.m.

Currently using the General Dynamics F-16 Falcon, the Thunderbirds have logged 2,732 performances before more than 200 million people in the United States and 47 free-world countries since their first aerial demonstration in 1953.

The F-16 is the Air Force's newest fighter and since its introduction in 1979 has made its mark as a multi-role fighter. In addition to the Thunderbirds, visitors at this year's show also will see a C-130 aero-medical evacuation and F-16 flight demonstration conducted. Also will be performed by the F-4, F-15 and F-111 fighter aircraft.

Other demonstrations will feature a Military Airlift Command combat and control team parachute drop, Scott AFB security police working dogs, and radio-control model aircraft.

The Military Airlift Command band and precision drill team will also perform.

An estimated 35 exhibits ranging from model aircraft builders to square dancing will be on hand, together with 40 food and refreshment concession stands.

New aspects of the 1987 Air Show include an early-morning fly-in of old civilian planes for static display, a hot-air balloon demonstration and launch, and a UH-60 Blackhawk helicopter demonstration.

Special seating, parking and restroom facilities will be available for the handicapped.

Normal parking problems will be eased through the use of shuttles and a park-and-ride system. In addition to Scott security police, the Air Show director said.

Summary

PBS ready to air movie on Alzheimer's disease

When Shirley Jones agreed to star in "There Were Times, Dear," she expected the film would be used only as a fund-raising tool for local help organizations for Alzheimer's disease.

The limited liability audience for such a film didn't worry Jones. Many roles for 50-year-olds are hard to find.

"I think I want to do this for nothing," she heard herself saying. Or almost nothing, any way — the minimum Screen Actors Guild wage.

But, what started as a labor of love has turned out to be something that PBS thought millions might want to watch. "There Were Times, Dear," starring Jones, Len Cariou, Cynthia Ell and Dana De La Torre, will air nationally June 3.

The movie will be aired locally on Channel 9.

Curled up on a sofa in her Beverly Hills living room, Jones recounted the hectic 10 days and nights of filming that exhausted yet exhilarated her.

"We worked our fannies off," she says. "We all had good feelings about it. Sometimes you do things like this that are a wonderful experience. But ... this one has blossomed into a year and a half since 'There Were Times, Dear' was completed. It had raised over a million dollars for research."

When director Nancy Malone and producer Linda Hopfer tried to interest television programmers in a film about the disease three years ago, the subject was perceived as too downbeat.

Since then, another film about Alzheimer's Disease has aired — CBS' highly praised "Do You Remember Love?" starring Richard Riley and Joanne Woodward, who won an Emmy for her performance as a college professor suffering from Alzheimer's.

"That film is more from the victim's point of view," Jones observes. "Ours deals with Alzheimer's disease as a family problem. Alzheimer's disease is a form of senility for which here so far is no cure."

In "There Were Times, Dear,"

Susanne and Bob Millard played by Jones and Cariou) have been happily married for 25 years. When Bob starts getting things, it doesn't seem serious. But then when he gets lost on a camping trip, he consults a doctor and discovers he has Alzheimer's disease. The film follows Bob's downhill slide over a period of years, focusing on how it affects his family.

Over the course of the hour-long film, Jones' character grows, out of necessity, from a loving, dependent wife into a loving, independent wife.

"Dependence is a big issue with women of my age group," Jones says. "In our day, you grew up, got married, had children and lived happily ever after. It's not necessarily the same today. Things are more equalized."

Married twice herself, to the late singer Jack Cassidy, and currently to producer Marty Inger Jones has been working since she was 18. Starting out in the chorus of "South Pacific" on Broadway, she moved quickly into such films as "Oklahoma!" and "The Music Man."

In 1961 she won an Oscar for her portrayal of a prostitute in "Elmer Gantry." But she didn't become truly famous, she insists, "until I did 'The Partridge Family.'"

For five years, Jones starred with her stepson David Cassidy in the ABC comedy about a family in the music business.

After the series ended in 1974, Jones was offered occasional film and television roles. However, she has spent most of her time singing.

"There were so many years when I wasn't singing," she says. "I made a lot of films where I was in the background because that was what I wanted. But singing is a God-given gift, and I truly feel I have to share it. If there was ever a time for me to sing, it's now." But Jones also would like to be acting.

"I have a good chance of doing a TV pilot in the next couple of months," she says. "We're just waiting on the script."

Quilting musical, exhibit Saturday

The role of quilts in the history of this community will be highlighted Saturday, May 30, starting at 2 p.m. at the Granite City Township Hall, 2060 Delmar Ave.

Sponsor of the activities will be the Old Six Mile Historical Society, which is raising funds to complete its acquisition of the Old Six Mile Museum.

An original musical play dealing with local history will be presented by a cast of 12. The play, "Quilting," was written by Georgia Engelke, museum curator, and Linda Koenig.

A highlight of the day will be a colorful display of quilts, many of them intricately constructed. The oldest that is scheduled to be shown dates back to 1849.

Mrs. Engelke expects about 70 quilts to be displayed, most of them closely associated with the Old Six Mile (Quad City) area.

New quilts also will be displayed. Admission will be $2.

There is a close link between quilting and the recording of local history. Mrs. Engelke said, noting that the process of quilt-making was accompanied by conversations in which the participants related stories of past events.

In this fashion, many historical occurrences were conveyed from one generation to the next. Old Six Mile Historical Society officers for 1987-88 are Mrs. Marguerite Lexow, president; Mrs. Lillian Delps, vice president; Mrs. Engelke, treasurer; Mrs. Frances Robbers, recording secretary; Mrs. Shirley Stallings, corresponding secretary; and board members, Floyd Jordan, Zane Miller, Shirley Adams, John Fornaszewski, Mike Devine, Delores Stalacher and Elma Hoover.

Richard Brown will be the guest speaker at the Historical Society's meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday, June 1, at Central Christian Church on Johnson Road.

Brown will tell about a polar expedition to Antarctica in 1940-47. He participated as a Navy seaman first-class.

Brown is a counselor in the Madison school district. His late father, Wensel Brown, was superintendent of Granite City elementary schools, assistant superintendent of the Granite City school district and then superintendent of Madison public schools.

THE PAST WILL LIVE AGAIN Saturday, May 30, at the Granite City Township Hall, 2060 Delmar Ave. Attractions include clothing of past generations are (front row, left to right) Kristy, Debbie and Jenny Engelke and (in the back) Kathy Engelke. All are granddaughters of Georgia Engelke, Old Six Mile Museum curator. Kristy and Jenny are sisters; Debbie and Kathy are sisters. A quilt show and an original play will be presented.

Don't take rights for granted

By Board of Realtors,
Granite City

All the settlement papers are signed. Your excitement, built up in anticipation of the closing date, has now crested.

You've just made one of the most, possibly the most, important investments of your life. You've bought your first house. You're no longer a renter. You're a homeowner.

You are faced with new lifestyle choices, new responsibilities. A myriad of decisions, from selecting flowers for a garden to participating in a neighborhood improvement project, become top priorities.

Home ownership creates a sense of pride and accomplishment. Buying a home is more than a financial investment. It is a purchase that instills a positive attitude toward community involvement. What happens to your house, your lot, your subdivision and your community is suddenly very important.

By purchasing real estate — land and its attachments — you have obtained real property, which refers to the interests, rights and benefits inherent in real estate ownership. Laws affecting real estate vary widely. Take time to learn about your local government regulations affecting property use. Familiarize yourself with local property tax, zoning and planning ordinances, as well as any plans or proposals for changes.

The real estate tax rate in one locality might be twice as expensive as the tax rate used in the bordering community. One locality might permit single-family homes to be built in commercial-zoned areas. Another might have laws banning such construction.

As a homeowner, it is important for you to use your right to vote to help shape decisions regarding property laws. It is time to reflect on the freedom to own and transfer property in this country. It is time to increase the public's awareness of private property rights and the need to protect them.

Real property rights include the right to use, the right to sell, the right to lease, the right to enter, the right to give and the right to refuse any of these rights. They can be separated and conveyed individually, or conveyed as a group, depending on the wishes of the property owner.

In America, full rights of ownership have only limited restraints. They are mainly restricted by four forms of government authority: the powers of taxation, eminent domain, police power and escheat. These restrictions may be thought of as protections that enhance property and safeguard its value. However, unless they are carefully monitored, they could become burdensome and dilute the value of homeownership.

The revenue generated from real estate property taxes generally is the largest single source of income for local governments. If taxes go unpaid, the power of taxation authorizes the governing body to take ownership of the affected property and sell it to secure the amount owed.

The tax revenue collected from property owners results from assessments of individual property values. These assessments are derived from various methods, including using a comparison with sales of similar nearby properties, and estimating the land value plus replacement cost of the structures on the lot. The assessment methods must be uniform to keep values in local housing markets from becoming distorted in some areas in comparison to others.

Eminent domain permits the government to acquire property if necessary for public use. Parcels for public buildings and roads are sometimes obtained this way. However, the government body seeking ownership must reimburse the property owner.

First, a purchase offer is submitted to the property owner through a government representative. If a mutually acceptable price cannot be determined this way, then eminent domain can be exercised. This power involves a formal proceeding filed against the property owner in a court of law.

The proceeding is resolved by the government paying the owner a court-determined market value, derived from appraisals submitted by both parties.

Police power affects real estate mainly in the form of enforcement of laws pertaining to zoning and planning; building, fire and health code requirements; and rent control. Unlike the powers of taxation or eminent domain, police power does not involve government seizure or acquisition of property. The property owner may keep the real estate, but could be faced with civil or criminal penalties imposed for violating laws covered by police power.

The power of escheat is used to resolve situations involving properties without owners. The state assumes ownership if an owner dies with no heirs or instructions for disposal of his property.

The National Association of Realtors and the Granite City Board of Realtors share your concerns about protecting your property — and your rights to use it, within legal limits, as you wish.

In the United States, private property rights are considered synonymous with homeownership. These rights must not be taken for granted.

Home cooling plan can save cold cash

To stay cool this summer, you can either let your air conditioner and your utility bills run merrily along, or you can try the "stay cool plan."

"Staying cool economically is a matter of lifestyle—planning your day to take advantage of the laws of nature," said Jim Pastoret, energy specialist. His plan goes like this:

•Insulate. As a minimum in this area, you should have R-25 in the ceiling and R-15 in the walls. Just as insulation reduces heat loss in winter, it keeps heat out in summer.

•Install weatherstripping at all windows and external doors.

•Shade windows, especially the large ones that face east or west. Shading outside the glass is five to six times more effective than shading from inside. Here are some suggestions: a fence-type trellis with climbing plants; canvas or basswood roll-up shades hung from the roof overhang; or Styrofoam fitted into the window frames.

•Use a good window fan or whole-house built-in attic fan to move air from outside to inside.

•Use floor fans to circulate air inside your house.

To organize your day:

•When the sun goes down in the evening open up your house and flush out the air with your attic fan or built-in window fan. Let the fan run all night, closing some windows so the air movement will be focused through your bedrooms.

•At sunrise, turn off the window fan or attic fan and close the house. As the temperature mounts outside later in the day, turn on the circulating fans and start moving the air inside the house. If you have an air conditioner, turn it on for an hour or two to reduce the relative humidity in the house and to pull the temperature down a few degrees.

With the temperature in the mid-70s, the house can probably carry the cool load for the rest of the day, so the air conditioner can be turned off.

•At sunset or later in the evening, possibly an hour before you retire, open the house and repeat the all-night flushing action.

•Check your air conditioner. Newer, higher efficiency air conditioners are now available. Their efficiency is measured with the "Energy Efficiency Ratio." Buy an air conditioner with a minimum EER of 8 to 10.

Because old air conditioners have EERs of 4 to 6, the new improved ones could cut your cooling bills in half, Pastoret said.

Be ready before you home hunt

Buying a home is probably the single most expensive personal purchase many people are apt to make. Yet some prospective buyers, perhaps entering the market for the first time, tend to start shopping with no inkling of what they want, need or can afford.

House hunting should not be a whimsical or impulsive way to fill an idle weekend. Before you even start to look, think carefully and decide exactly what you want.

And, don't forget to call your professional Realtor for help. A professional Realtor is one who belongs to the Real Estate Board and adheres to a strict code of ethics and professional standards that is above and beyond the license law. This person can help you answer all of your questions and probably remind you of a few that you forgot.

If lawn mowers or rakes make you grimace, you might be better off in a townhouse or condominium. If your children have infinite energy, you might consider a house with a yard.

If your family spends a lot of time together, a house with a large great room, or combined family room and living room, might suit your needs. But, if your household members would rather have living space all their own, you might be better off in a house with several large bedrooms and a smaller den.

Narrowing down your preferences will enable a professional Realtor to serve you more efficiently. You will be shown properties in which you are seriously interested. Viewing places you have no intention of buying only wastes time for you, the seller and the real estate agent.

Price is equally important. Familiarize yourself with price ranges for types of units appealing to you. Discuss your financial situation honestly with a Realtor before starting your search.

You may be able to afford more than you imagined; the current low mortgage interest rates have placed homeownership at its most affordable point in almost nine years. However, if you find your preferences are beyond your budget, don't be discouraged. Be willing to consider alternatives you can afford.

Unless you are adamant about living in a specific area, ask to be shown a few different houses in several neighborhoods. This will allow you to get an idea of the types of styles certain places offer. One subdivision might feature contemporary, another mainly Colonials. The next might contain a mix of architecture.

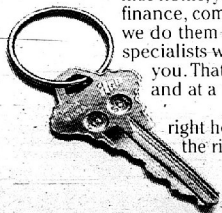

Be reasonable — you shouldn't expect a previously owned home to look new. But don't be shy. Don't feel "peculiar" walking through a stranger's bathroom or bedroom. Open the closets. Look behind the furniture. Check for scratches and holes in the walls.

TALMAN. MORTGAGE SPECIALIST.

If you want something done right, you go to a specialist. So, if you're looking to buy your first home, your second home, or you'd just like to re-finance, come to Talman. Mortgages are all we do. CommentBy Dave Whaley
Executive sports editorTough decision for Coach Long

MADISON — Another successful season is history for the Trojanette track team.

With two more state titles safely tucked away, it's time to sit back and enjoy the glorious memories. Sheila and LaGloria Marshall and Tammy Deal each brought home two gold medals as part of the winning 400 and 800 medley relay teams. Dezona Echols rounded out the 400 team and Lisa Davenport filled out the 800 medley team.

The fact that Deal aggravated a muscle injury and was unable to compete in her specialty — the 400 meter run — and that the Trojanettes missed connections on the passing of the baton in the 800 relay was a disappointment. But Madison still brought home a lot of gold.

Besides, it couldn't have been any worse than 1985, when Deal fell during the finals of the 400 and the whole trip turned out to be a catastrophe for a sad group of girls.

Head coach Luvenia Long has seen it all in her years at Madison, but those years could be over. Long will be giving much thought in the months ahead to whether she will return as coach in 1988. Domestic responsibilities call, and Long isn't sure if she can continue to split her time between home and the track.

She has two children, 11 and 8, that need much attention from their mother. And the track season is a time-consuming profession from January until June. "I probably won't decide until the beginning of the next school year," Long said. "But I feel like I need to spend more time with my family. I'll talk it over with my husband, but I don't think he would ever come out and tell me to quit. I really like doing this."

And so she should. She has been blessed with a bundle of talent for many years, and next year shouldn't be any different. Incredibly, as strong as the Trojanettes have been the last couple of years, they are losing only two runners from this year's squad. Tammy Deal and Lisa Davenport.

Deal raked in lots of gold in her illustrious career as a Trojanette, and only some misfortune prevented her from winning three straight state titles in the 400. Sandwiched between the problems of 1985 and 1987 was a title last year. Deal will do her running at Missouri Baptist College's next season.

Davenport also contributed much success to the program and was Madison High School's Scholar-Athlete as chosen by the St. Louis Post-Dispatch for 1987. She joined Granite City's Jamie Hogan and Venice's Jesse Hall for that honor.

Outside of those two, everyone will be back.

"And my fastest runner was ineligible for most of the season," Long said, referring to Vivian Turner who was out because of grades. "I know she won't do that again. She was up at state with us, and I know she will be back next year."

Next year, some head coach will have a lot of talent to work with, and it might yet be Long. If not, assistant coach Gene Briggs could move up to the top spot.

"I'm sure coach Briggs could do a great job as head coach," Long said. "But he would have to have a female assistant. You really need a female somewhere on the staff for the track team. And we don't have a lot of people available at Madison to coach girls sports."

Of course, the possibility exists that Long could still be an assistant coach and coach a little less time at work. But...

"I don't think I could be an assistant," she said with a laugh. "I'm too bossy not to be in charge."

It will be a tough choice for Long, one of the nicest ladies in the business. Family is the No. 1 priority, but there is a lot to gain by coaching the talented Trojanette program.

Stay tuned.

NOTES: Speaking of talented track programs, the East St. Louis Lincoln Tigersites won their sixth straight girls Class AA title last weekend in Charleston. They didn't come close to the incredible 140 points they racked up last year, but Nino Fennoy's girls still won comfortably. And they are set for the next two years with Carmelia Williams, a sophomore who became the first girl ever to win all three sprint events in the state. Williams, who likes volleyball, had to be coaxed into going out for the track team.

GRANITE CITY — It's a record-breaking group of baseball players that begins its search for a berth in the state finals today.

The Warriors rolled up their sleeves early in the year and started swinging the bats. They didn't stop until they had broken seven school records. And more could fall before post-season play ends.

Coach Bob Stegemeier and his Warriors hope it doesn't end too soon. The first test begins at 4 p.m. today at Varsity Field when the Civic Memorial Eagles come calling in a first-round game of the Edwardsville Regional. The Eagles are 3-21 compared to Granite City's 25-9, but Stegemeier knows his team can't afford to look ahead.

"You only need one bad game and you're done," he said. "Sometimes you just go out and don't play well and that's it. And sometimes you go out and play all right, but the other team has a real good game. It's better to lose that way. East St. Louis has knocked us out the last three years, and every game could have gone either way."

The Warriors aren't planning an early exit this year. Darin

Hendrickson will get the start today, then Scott LeVault is set to go in the semifinals Saturday in Edwardsville, where the Warriors would likely face Jerseyville.

"Darin can recover quicker than Scott, so he could come back Monday if we get that far," Stegemeier said. "And Mike Krauss is waiting in the wings if anybody has soreness."

"I told the players that because of their CM's record, it doesn't mean they can't beat us. You have to respect all your opponents."

If the Warriors can get to the regional title game, they would likely get a rematch with Edwardsville, a team that beat them 4-2 at Varsity Field May 1. The Tigers are a team the Warriors feel they have a score to settle with.

"We were playing bad when they came in," Stegemeier said. "We gave them a couple of runs and we were in the middle of our hitting slump. The players would like another chance at them."

The Tigers are the No. 1 seed in the regional and the Warriors are second.

Stegemeier isn't worried about playing the Tigers in Edwardsville.

"The home team is flipped for every game anyway," he said. "And you don't get the big home crowds out for baseball like you do for football and basketball."

At the same time, he is looking forward to hosting next week's sectional if the Warriors can win the regional.

"We're getting tired of working on our diamond so somebody else can play on it," Stegemeier said.

Stegemeier had few surprises for this year's team, which would set a new school record for most wins by winning the regional (the 1986 Warriors won 27 games). The pitching, anchored by Hendrickson and LeVault, has been a little stronger than he expected, but the defense and offense has been closer to what he thought.

"Jeff Grote has been in a little defensive slump at shortstop, but Jamie (Hogan) has done well at second," he said. "The play at first and in the outfield has been more than adequate, and the freshman (Joe Wallace) and the freshman (Dale Wallace) were thrown into the job behind the plate, but he has done a very respectable job."

The Warriors are hitting .329 as a team, a new school record which will stand if they keep hitting in the post-season. Granite City North hit .324 in 1979. Other records that have been surpassed include total runs (268, three in 1986), total hits (299, three in 1986), 67 doubles (61 in 1985), 175 walks (156 in 1986), and 274 RBIs (207 in 1986). Individual records set include LeVault's 35 bases on balls (Bob Batey drew 36 in 1980) and Tim Hogan's 37 runs (Batey scored 36 in 1980).

The Southwestern Conference title is the first for Granite City outright since 1967. Since then, Granite City North shared the Gateway East Conference title in 1981 and 1982. Granite City has not won a regional since 1961, when North did. The Steelers made the most recent trip to state in 1979.

But the only thing that matters now is today's game against Civic Memorial. Hendrickson has been very strong all year. He is 6-3 with a 1.78 ERA and has allowed only one earned run in his last 13 1/3 innings; and that was in exchange for an out in the last inning of an 8-1 win at O'Fallon May 16. He has allowed only two earned runs in 22 2/3 innings and three in 30 1/3 innings. The senior right-hander's strike-out-to-walk ratio is 30/8 in 50 innings.

"That's just fabulous," Stegemeier said.

With all that, Hendrickson's record could be even better. His three losses were by scores of 3-2, 4-2 and 1-0. Stegemeier is hoping Hendrickson can get the team started on a road trip with a few breaks — could end in Springfield.

"We think we can be as good as anybody," the coach said.

Belleville Regional
is cut-throat event

If the Warriors think they are in for a battle being in the Edwardsville Regional with the host Tigers, things could be tougher.

They could be in the Belleville East Regional, which could go down as the toughest regional in the state. A lot of good teams will be eliminated from the race for the Class AA state title before that one ends Monday.

Three teams with at least 20 wins and another, Belleville West — with 19 wins will knock heads this weekend, and only one of them will survive. All three Belleville schools and East St. Louis are the top four seeds, and they are likely to converge at East to decide a winner.

The winner will join winners from the Edwardsville, Benton and Centralia regionals at Varsity Field next weekend in the Granite City Sectional. The winner there will travel to Springfield for the state finals June 11-12.

Here's a quick look at the three regionals which will send winners to Granite City along with the Edwardsville winner.

AT BELLEVILLE EAST: The Althoff Crusaders are the top seed and face the winner of today's Belleville West-Collingsville game Saturday. Other first-round games today are Cahokia at Belleville East and East St. Louis Lincoln at East St. Louis. The Belleville East-Cahokia winner will face the East Side-Lincoln winner at Belleville in the second game Saturday. The title game is Monday at 4 p.m.

AT CENTRALIA: Triad is the top seed and faces the winner of today's Mt. Vernon-Salem game Saturday morning. Other first-round games today match O'Fallon against Mascoutah and Highland against Centralia. The winners of those two games play in Saturday's second game. The regional title game is Monday at 4 p.m.

AT BENTON: First-round games today pit Carbondale vs. Metropolis (Massac County), Marion vs. Benton, Hannibal vs. Herrin, and West Frankfort vs. Murphysboro. The winners of the first two games and the winners of the second two games meet in Saturday's semifinals, then the title game is Monday at 4 p.m.

Statebound

WARRIOR TENNIS PLAYERS Ray Scott (left) and Bill Gaumer flank head coach Allen Lobdell Wednesday morning prior to leaving for Arlington Heights and the Illinois High School Association tennis finals. Scott and Gaumer qualified as a doubles team with a second-place finish in last weekend's Granite City Sectional. It's the second trip to state in as many years for Gaumer, who went as Robbie Lombardi's partner last year.

Trojans hope to be part of greatness at state

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

Five Madison Trojans will be walking into the midst of potential greatness this weekend.

The 93rd Illinois High School Association Boys State Final Track Meet at Charleston features some tremendous competition that puts several state records on the line.

Preliminaries in Class A and Class AA are Friday, with the small schools competing in the morning and the large schools in the afternoon.

The Trojans are sending seniors Otis Ware and Gary Stanley, juniors Jesse Leonard and Ian Smith, and freshman Ray Blakely to O'Brien Stadium for the meet, which will feature 1,400 athletes.

Smith, Leonard and Ware qualified in three events each. Blakely, Leonard and Ware all ran on the winning 400 and 800 meter relay teams at the Red Bud Sectional Saturday, while Leonard took an individual title in the long jump and Ware won the triple jump. Smith was also on the 400 relay team and took two individual firsts — in the 100 meter dash and the 400 meter dash. Stanley filled out the 800 meter relay team.

"Our times in some areas have been fairly good," said Trojan coach Charles Steptoe of his team's chances to do well at State. "Ian has had a 49.7 in the 400, so he has a good chance there. He has also turned in an 11.9 in the 100. The 400 relay team has done 43.8 before. I think they all have a good chance to do well."

The Trojans had only 19 athletes at the sectional, but still managed to accumulate 55 points and win the meet, with Weslin coming in second with 48. As a result, Steptoe had to ask most of his top runners to go in three or four events, and Leonard, Ware, Blakely and Smith came through with flying colors.

"I was just pleased to hang on," Steptoe said. "Some of them were worn out by the end of the day, but I wasn't surprised that we had the ability to win it."

Leonard (100 dash), Avery Ware (400 dash), Stanley (200 dash) and Ted Kemp (shot put) all narrowly missed qualifying for state in their events, taking third.

Other team champions in Class A are Pontiac, Casey-Westfield, Normal, Princeton, Cairo, Fulton, St. Anns, Norridge Ridge, Wood, Mahomet Seymour, Dakota, Carlinville, Yorkville, Greenville, Lewistown and Sheridan. In Class AA, sectional champions were East St. Louis Lincoln, Rockford West, Kankakee, Bloomington, Chicago Lane, Chicago Heights Bloom, Oak Park River Forest, Libertyville, Centralia, Naperville North, Hoffman Estates Conant, Chicago Mendel Catholic, Peoria Manual, Rock Island, Roselle Lake Park and Evanston.

Three Class A and four Class AA champions in individual events return this year, and state records in the 100, 200, 400, 800 and 1600 meter runs, the 300 yard hurdles, 400 and 800 meter relays and the discus are in jeopardy.

Chicago Luther South and North Chicago are the defending team champions in Class A and Class AA, respectively. Neither appear capable of repeating, however. Top contenders in Class A are Cairo, Casey-Westfield, Melrose Park (Walter Lutheran) and Pontiac. Top contenders in Class AA are Chicago Mendel Catholic, Harvey Thornton, East St. Louis and East St. Louis Lincoln.

The two East St. Louis schools have won or shared nine of the last 12 large school meets. Lincoln won four straight in the year 1980's. The Lincoln girls team won its sixth straight title last weekend.

Dehner created need for three-second rule

A sports legend died recently in Belleville. His name was Louis L. (Pick) Dehner.

By Al Barnes

I first met him in Lincoln, Ill., the seat of Logan County, which has probably the richest farming land in the entire world. Its topsoil is an average of three feet deep. The glaciers which followed the Ice Age when they moved down from Canada deposited this topsoil of incredible richness. The worst farmer of all time couldn't ruin it.

It took the rulesmakers just a year to change the rule. So Dehner had to work again to make his baskets.

Wallace wins 2nd straight

By Joe Senter

GRANITE CITY — Mike Wallace made it two feature event wins in a row Saturday night at Tri-City Speedway.

Wallace won driving the Bob Quinn Auto Bargain Center Trans Am from the sixth starting spot alongside Bob Dietz. At the drop of the green flag, Paul Crockett jumped into the lead and held on for two laps when Bill Shaw caught him from the third spot.

He looked like a sure winner until the 21st lap when Wallace, the 1986 U.M.P. track and state champion, passed him for the lead and went on to score the big victory.

Crockett finished second, Shaw third, Bo Smith fourth, Ray Embling Jr. fifth and Dietz fifth.

Wallace and Dietz took the heat races.

Randy Durbin was the feature event winner in the modifieds. Mike Hammerle took the lead at the green flag and held on for six laps when Durbin took over. Lou Thierry was second, Hammerle third and Bo Smith fourth. Ron Taylor took the heat races.

John Stanton took the street stock car feature and was followed across the finish line by Craig Maskal and Rick Carter. Maskal and Wes Weinman took the heat races.

Jake Seets won the sportsman's cars 25-lap feature event and was followed across the line by brother John Seets, John Stanton and Mike Seets. Rick Bayer and John Seets took the heat races.

Summers became one of majors' top pinch hitters

By Al Barnes
Correspondent

John (Champ) Summers, whose 11 years in the major leagues ranks him near the top among area athletes, has returned to pro baseball after one year of retirement.

Summers, who was inducted into the Granite City Sports Hall of Fame May 6, signed with the New York Yankees as a batting instructor at their AAA club in Columbus, Ohio. He is also a third base coach under manager Bucky Dent.

Summers starred in both baseball and basketball for SIUE. He signed with the Oakland Athletics in 1974. After stints with the Chicago Cubs, Cincinnati Reds, Detroit Tigers, San Francisco Giants and San Diego Padres, he retired in 1985.

In his last five years, he put together the second best pinch hitting record in the National League. He now expects to work himself up toward becoming a major league manager.

"In college, under Coach Roy

John (Champ) Summers

Lee, I learned a lot in the skills of managing," he said. "Then Sparky Anderson went out of his way to point me on toward a career in managing."

Learn to Swim classes begin at YMCA

"My son is finally able and willing to swim."

"This is a very good program for water safety."

"A learning experience for my granddaughter and very enjoyable for me."

"The price is right."

These are a few of the comments made by parents at the conclusion of the Tri-City Area YMCA's "Learn-to-Swim" week last year. The program, which is designed for children who have never swum before, will be held again this year the week of June 14.

The program's aim is to decrease — or actually eliminate — the hundreds of drownings which inevitably occur each summer because a child does not know how to swim.

Children attend half-hour classes each day, with professional instruction emphasizing the basic skills: Floating, kicking and stroking. Those students who succeed in learning these basics receive a certificate. Their parents receive peace of mind.

The cost for the entire week of lessons is $3. Sessions will be from 4 to 4:30 p.m.; 4:30-5 p.m.; 5-5:30 p.m.; 6:30-7 p.m.; and 7-7:30 p.m.

Further information on the YMCA National Progressive Aquatics program, which has taught more children and adults to swim than any other program in the world, can be obtained by calling 876-7200.
